Watkiss Automation is located in Sandy, Bedfordshire close to the main A1 road, approximately 45-50 miles (70-80km) to the north of London.

If you are travelling by rail, please make prior arrangements with us to be collected from Sandy railway station. Trains from London to Sandy leave from Kings Cross Station (on the Peterborough line).

FROM THE NORTH

Approaching Sandy on the A1, take the exit signed to the A1 North and Peterborough:

- Follow the signs for Middlefield Industrial Estate over four roundabouts onto Sunderland Road.
- Take the first left onto Tyne Road.
- Take the next left onto Blaydon Road.

Watkiss House is immediately on your left (there are three flagpoles at the front of the building).

FROM THE SOUTH

Approaching the Sandy roundabout on the A1, (with a Holiday Inn and a Texaco service station and signed Bedford A603 to the left and Sandy to the right):

- Turn right towards Sandy.
- At the next roundabout go straight over, following the signs to Middlefield Industrial Estate, onto Sunderland Road.
- After 1 mile, take the fifth right onto Tyne Road.
- Take the next left onto Blaydon Road.

Watkiss House is immediately on your left (there are three flagpoles at the front of the building).

For vehicles in excess of 7½T there is a weight restriction into the Industrial Estate.

Approaching on the A1, at the Sandy roundabout (see above) continue north on the A1:

- Take the next exit signed Middlefield Industrial Estate and A1 South.
- Follow the signs to Middlefield Industrial Estate over six roundabouts onto Sunderland Road.
- Take the first left onto Tyne Road
- Take the next onto Blaydon Road.

Watkiss House is immediately on your left (there are three flagpoles at the front of the building).
